Rose and Gorman's "Store Within a Store" Will Open Thursday with Visit of Many Store Owners Interested in New Scheme.

That the opening of the "store within a store" at Rose and Gorman's on Thursday will not be just another ordinary addition to the big store, but the launching of a new department, was evidenced this morning when Vincent A. Gorman announced elaborate preparations for the new opening, which will include the visit here of 25 executives and representatives from similar establishments in New England, New Jersey and New York. These men have come on the invitation of Mr. Gorman who had planned a revolutionary departure from ordinary merchandising methods with this "downstairs store" with everything in symphony. After inspecting this new creation of Mr. Gorman the visitors will be guests at a luncheon celebrating the opening of the new store.

The newly planned downstairs store has aroused widespread interest among store owners and Mr. Gorman's plan of dramatizing merchandising with definite color scheme and scientific displays is being eagerly studied and watched. The decorating and rebuilding of a downstairs floor for this new kind of store is evidence that Mr. Gorman has faith in the future and anticipates that business will become nearer normal in the near future.

This new idea of scientific merchandising on the part of the big store places Kingston well in front as a leader among cities seeking the latest ideas in department store merchandising.

Mr. Gorman says of the new store, which will open on Thursday, "The new downstairs store is in no sense a bargain basement, but something radically different, and has been termed a 'complete store within a store'."

"SOUTH POLE OF COLD" IN ANDES MOUNTAINS

Washington (AP)—The "south pole of cold" is not in the Antarctic, but hundreds of miles nearer the equator in the Andes mountains of South America.

It is the second most frigid spot on earth, with temperatures often as low as 70 below zero, comparable to the "north pole of cold" in northern Siberia, says Director Navarrete of the Chilean weather bureau in a report to the Monthly Weather Review of the U. S. weather bureau.

This cold spot is a region about 80 miles wide, in the Andes mountains of northern Patagonia, along the Chilean-Argentine frontier. It is a place of deep valleys with high mountain walls, an ideal repository for the chilled air from the Antarctic that settles into it from higher levels.

ARMY ISSUES CALLS FOR 90 ATTACK PLANES

Washington, May 22 (AP)—The army speeded its air program today by requesting bids for 90 attack planes.

Under the original three-year program only 30 attack planes were to be asked at this time. But Assistant Secretary of War Woodring requested the general staff to approve plans for 60 planes for the 1935 program.

The 30 planes will be purchased with $7,500,000 in PWA funds and the others from congressional appropriations for the Air Corps in 1935.

Wicks Bill Signed by Gov. Lehman Today To Get November Vote

Senator Arthur Wicks $40,000,000 Unemployment Relief Bond Measure Is Given Executive Sanction—Will Make $155,000,000 Available.

Albany, N. Y., May 22 (AP)—Governor Herbert H. Lehman today signed the Wicks bill authorizing submission to the electorate next November of a $40,000,000 bond issue for relief of the unemployed from November 15 to February 15, 1935.

The issue, if approved, will make a total of $155,000,000 for relief work in New York state in the last two years, the legislature having appropriated $25,000,000 and the residents having approved bond issues of $30,000,000 and $60,000,000.

The governor also affixed his signature to a measure appropriating $10,000,000 of the bond issue for immediate distribution for the first period ending next February 15.

Other bills approved were:

The Reoux Act relieving county treasurers from liability in event of loss of public funds of the county by default of insolvent.

Norman Thomas Held At Illinois Address

Taylorville, Ill., May 22 (AP)—Norman Thomas, Socialist leader, said today his arrest on a speaking platform here late yesterday was a "denial of the right of free speech."

He said he was "eager" to test the authority of officers who took him into temporary custody and dispersed with tear gas an audience he was addressing.

Thomas, Socialist candidate for president in 1932, who was held in custody 45 minutes, assailed the legality of a speech gag rule in Taylorville, which is the stronghold of mine union disturbance in southern Illinois.

Fierce Fighting Is Raging in the Chaco

Asuncion, Paraguay, May 22 (AP)—Furious fighting raged today along scattered sections of the Chaco front as Bolivian forces maneuvered in an attempt to draw the Paraguayan army into a premature offensive upon Fort Ballivian.

An advance of the Paraguayans left wing to the north was reported, but the minister of defense in Asuncion said word from the battle zones indicated the Paraguayan command was not ready to launch its general advance.

The delay in opening the offensive against the fort, Bolivia's most important stronghold, indicated the General Jose Estigarribia is taking fully into consideration the dangers that await his troops in what probably will be the decisive battle of the Gran Chaco warfare.

Paraguay has 40,000 men concentrated along a 25-mile front; Bolivia 15,000 in and before the fort.

Requiem Service Held

Hot Springs, Ark., May 22 (AP)—President Roosevelt was urged today by the council of the General Federation of Women's Clubs through its board of directors to sign a house bill giving to American mothers the right to transmit their nationality to children born abroad.

Harcourt J. Pratt of Highland, former Congressman, Assemblyman, prominent business man and banker, died at the Kingston Hospital shortly after 8 o'clock Monday evening as the result of injuries sustained in an automobile accident near the Port Ewen Cemetery about 3 o'clock that afternoon.

Mrs. Pratt, who was riding with her husband at the time, is at the hospital, suffering from shock and concussion of the brain. It was stated this morning that she had passed a good night, that her condition was fair and that it was expected that she would recover from her injuries.

Congressman Pratt never recovered consciousness after being brought to the hospital, where an examination showed that he had suffered a comminuted fracture of the left thigh, a fracture of the left ankle and the right wrist and a fracture at the base of the skull. His injuries were treated by Dr. G. W. Ross and Dr. F. A. Johnston, and about 6 o'clock Dr. Van Dever of Albany, who had been summoned for consultation, arrived.

The sheriff's office was notified shortly after the accident occurred and Deputy Abram Molyneux, with Sergeant Lockhart and Troopers Baker and Reilly went at once to the scene, but it was difficult to discover the exact cause of the accident. The officers found both rear tires of the Buick sedan flat when they made the examination, but whether the accident was caused by the blowing of a tire or whether the car struck a wet spot on the pavement and got out of control could not be determined.

Headed for Kingston.

Mr. Pratt was driving to Kingston at the time to attend a meeting of the Kingston Trust Co. From some cause his car after coming down the hill south of the Port Ewen Cemetery and while on the curve just opposite the entrance to the cemetery, left the road, tore down a very large concrete post in the guard fence and plunged into a telephone pole, which it splintered.

The impact was terrific, the top being practically torn from the chassis and the machine tilted against the telephone pole in such a manner that it was with difficulty that rescuers were able to get inside the car and release the two occupants.

Ralph Constable, who had been driving behind Mr. Pratt heard the crash and was among the first to come to his aid. He was joined by Louis Smith of Highland, who happened to come along shortly after the accident, and Deputy Sheriff Donald Tinnie and William Moore, who operates a gas station not far from the scene and who came at once after hearing the crash.

Mr. and Mrs. Pratt were taken out of the wrecked car and hurried at once to the Kingston Hospital.

It is stated that not more than an hour or so before the accident a car coming north left the road at the same spot, tore down a couple of the guard posts and turning around returned in the direction from which it had come.

Prominent Business Man

The death of Mr. Pratt removes one of the most prominent business men in Ulster county. Shortly after completing his education at the Highland schools and Claverack Academy, he organized the George W. Pratt Lumber Co. at Highland. In addition to being president of that company he was president and the leading stockholder in several other lumber companies, including the Kingston Lumber Corporation, the Arden Lumber Co. of Poughkeepsie, the Beacon Coal and Lumber Co., the Marlborough Manufacturing and Supply Co. and the Hudson Lumber and Supply Corporation. He was president of the First National Bank of Highland and a director in the Kingston Trust Co.

Born in the town of Lloyd October 23, 1866, Mr. Pratt had always taken a great interest in civil affairs. He served for a number of years on the Highland Board of Education, was president of the Highland Library and of the Gannett Foundation, a charitable institution.

He was active in Republican politics from his youth. He served three years as supervisor of the town of Lloyd, to which office he was elected in 1895 and in 1897 was elected member of assembly from the second district of Ulster county, succeeding James Loughran.

He declined to run for a second term as assemblyman, but in 1924 accepted the nomination for congressman from the 27th district and was elected, his opponent being William C. DeWitt of Kingston. He was re-elected in 1926, 28 and 30, but in 1932 declined a further nomination and was succeeded by Philip Goodwin of Conestoga, the present representative.

While in congress Mr. Pratt was a member of the agricultural committee, where he wielded considerable influence.

Fraternally Mr. Pratt was connected with the Masonic order, the Elks and the Grange.

Besides his wife, who was before her marriage Miss Marie E. Hasbrouck of Honesdale, Iowa, Mr. Pratt leaves one son, George, of Highland; two daughters, Mrs. Walter Betts of Elmhurst, L. I., and Mrs. LeGrand.

Brooklyn, N. Y., May 22 (AP)—Charles F. Kerrigan, 51, former holder of several public offices and assistant to Mayor James J. Walker during the Seabury investigation, died of a heart attack at his home (87 Lenox Road) early today.

Kerrigan was a deputy comptroller when the then Mayor-elect Walker appointed him his assistant in December, 1925.

During the Hoagstrader investigation of the Walker regime, Kerrigan's bank accounts were scrutinized but no charges were made against him.

Following an investigation by the grand jury into charges that city officers were bartered, Kerrigan issued a statement, apparently on his own initiative, defending Walker and District Attorney Thomas C. T. Crain.

LOCAL POLICE TO ATTEND STATE POLICE CONVENTION

The Kingston Patrolmen's Association at its meeting Monday evening at the city hall decided to send three delegates to the annual police conference to be held this year in Jamestown on August 1 to 4. President Peter Kersman and Officer William J. Reardon were selected to attend and the third delegate will be picked later.

Mayor C. J. Heiselmaier was a guest of the association and spoke briefly on police work, and said that he would back the efforts of the local association to have the state convention held here next year. The association also took up the matter of arranging for the annual ball game with Newburgh this summer.

$1,250 Awarded For Injuries To A Horse; Jury Taken In Dog Case

Florence E. Griffin Wins Suit Against New York Telephone Company—Jury Taken and Trial of Dog Bite Action Commenced.

Florence E. Griffin, plaintiff, was awarded a verdict in the sum of $1,250 against the New York Telephone Company for injuries which a horse owned by her suffered in 1931 when it became entangled in telephone wires which were being strung by telephone company employees over a paddock on the Hurley avenue farm. The horse was a valuable one and it was testified to at the trial that it was worth $2,500. Plaintiff alleges that the employees of the company had been negligent in running the wires through the paddock where the horse was. During the operation the horse became tangled up in the wire and suffered injuries which later caused the horse to be shot.

Charles de la Vergne and A. J. Cook appeared for the plaintiff and Charles T. Russell for the telephone company.

Monday afternoon a jury was taken and the trial of a dog bite action was commenced before Judge Stanley. Elfrida Elsie Grund, an infant, by Frank Grund, guardian, seeks to recover damages from Rudolph Von Ende and another of Whiteport for injuries which the little girl is alleged to have suffered when defendant's dog bit her in the summer of 1931 while she was boarding in the Whiteport section of the county. It is alleged that the child was bitten on the arm and leg.

Everett Wright testified that she saw the child bitten by the dog several times. The defendants deny the liability and charge that the dog was not vicious and that they were not responsible for the injuries. Jacob Newhouse appears for plaintiff and Frank W. Brooks for defendant.

Judge J. T. Loughran Named to Vacant Post On the Appeals Court

Assigned by Governor as an Associate Judge of the Court of Appeals to Fill Vacancy Caused by the Retirement of Judge H. T. Kellogg.

JUSTICE JOHN T. LOUGHRAN.

The assignment of Supreme Court Judge John T. Loughran to the court of appeals, the highest court of the state, makes him the first supreme court judge from the Third Judicial District to go to the court of appeals in more than 22 years, the last having been Judge Emory A. Chase of Catskill.

Three years ago Judge Loughran was elected to the supreme bench and since that time had held trial terms in the counties of the district. Throughout the district he has become very popular and his pleasing personality and knowledge of the law has won for him many friends not only in the legal profession but also among litigants who came before his court.

Before Taking his Seat on the Supreme Court Bench Judge Loughran Was a Member of the Firm of DeLahanty, Hannon, Evans & Loughran of New York City, and Prior to That Held the Position of Professor of Law at Fordham University.

Following his graduation from law school he formed a partnership with the Hon. Joseph M. Fowler, former county judge, and that partnership was continued until 1922 when Judge Loughran became associated with the New York City law firm, with which he continued until 1930, when he was elected to the supreme court bench.

At one time Judge Loughran was connected with the staff of the Kingston Freeman and during his attendance at Fordham he was associated with The Freeman during his summer vacation periods.

Holding Term at Troy

Judge Loughran has been holding the May trial term at Troy and his assignment to the Court of Appeals by Governor Lehman came Monday afternoon after he had left Troy for his home here. He is notified of the assignment on arrival at his home. This morning he returned to Troy where he will conclude the case now on trial and in all probabilities will take his seat on the Court of Appeals bench Wednesday.

The present six judges on the Court of Appeals are confronted with an exceptionally heavy calendar and his assistance in clearing the docket before the summer vacation period will be appreciated.

The Assignment of Judge Loughran to the Court of Appeals Will Create an Emergency on the Trial Circuit in This District from Which Already Two Judges Have Been Removed from Trial Work Through Their Assignment to the Appellate Division.

Judge McNamee of Hudson and Judge Bliss of Middleburgh, Schoharie county, at present are assigned to the Appellate Division and with Judge Loughran going to the Court of Appeals there remain but four judges for trial work. The only trial judges now are Judge Ellis J. Staley, Gilbert V. Schenck, both of Albany, Judge Pierre H. Russell of Troy, and Judge Sydney F. Foster in Liberty.

Speculation as to Successor

For some time there has been talk of the elevation of Judge Loughran to the Court of Appeals to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Judge Kellogg. Judge McNamee had also been mentioned as a probable successor to Judge Kellogg. The probability of Judge Loughran's elevation to the higher court caused much speculation as to who might succeed him as Supreme Court Judge. The name of former Mayor and former Collector of Internal Revenue Roscoe Irwin has been mentioned as a possible appointee of Governor Lehman. It was also rumored that Judge Harry E. Schirck, Democratic leader in Ulster county, might be named and in addition there were several other names mentioned including City Judge Bernard A. Culliton and County Attorney Arthur R. Ewle. The names of Ulster county men were mentioned more frequently since it has been the custom in making an appointment to fill a vacancy from the county from which the vacancy occurred.

Knowledge of the movement to elevate Justice Loughran to the Court of Appeals prompted several quiet campaigns during the past few weeks.

President Sends Silver Message To Congress, Asks Mandatory Law

Roosevelt Stipulates That Payments on Silver Purchases To Build Up Necessary Reserve Be Limited To 50 Cents An Ounce on Domestic Metal—Ultimate Solution Hinges on World-Wide Bi-Metallic Agreement, He States—Proposes 50 Per Cent Tax on Silver Profits.

Washington, May 22 (AP)—President Roosevelt recommended to congress today that it declare American policy to be "To increase the amount of silver in our monetary stocks with the ultimate objective of having and maintaining one fourth of their monetary value in silver and three fourths in gold."

The policy would be made mandatory. The President, in fulfillment of his agreement with congressional silver advocates, said he should be "authorized and directed to make the purchases of silver necessary to attain this ultimate objective."

Payments for present silver holdings in this country would be limited to 50 cents an ounce, and profits so made would be taxed 50 per cent.

Pointing to a world wide bi-metallic agreement as the ultimate solution of the silver problem, Mr. Roosevelt revealed to congress that he has already begun negotiations with neighboring countries "in regard to the use of both silver and gold, preferably on a coordinated basis, as a standard of monetary value."

The President's message also asked authority to take over "present surpluses of silver in this country not required for industrial uses on payment of just compensation, and to regulate imports, exports and other dealings in monetary silver."

Mr. Roosevelt proposed a tax of "at least 50 per cent on the profits accruing from dealing in silver."

The legislation to carry out the presidential proposal was ready for introduction and swift passage was believed in prospect as a result of the understanding among the western silver advocates.

The President's Text

The President's text follows: To the Congress of the United States:

On January 11, 1934, I recommended to the Congress legislation which was promptly enacted under the title "The gold reserve act of 1934." This act vested in the United States government the custody and control of our stocks of gold as a reserve for our paper currency and as a medium of settling international balances. It set up a stabilization fund for the control of foreign exchange in the interests of our people, and certain amendments were added to facilitate the acquisition of silver.

As stated in my message to the Congress, this legislation was recommended as a step in improving our financial and monetary system. Its enactment has laid a foundation on which we are organizing a currency system that will be both sound and adequate. It is a long step forward, but only a step.

As a part of the larger objective, some things have been clear. One is that we should move forward as rapidly as conditions permit in broadening the metallic base of our monetary system and in stabilizing the purchasing and debt paying power of our money on a more equitable level. Another is that we should not neglect the value of an increased use of silver in improving our monetary system. Since 1929 that has been obvious.

Some measures for making a greater use of silver in the public interest are appropriate for independent action by us. On others, international cooperation should be sought.

Of the former class is that of increasing the proportion of silver in the abundant metallic reserves back of our paper currency. This policy was initiated by the proclamation of December 21, 1933, bringing our current domestic production of silver into the treasury, as well as placing this nation among the first to carry out the agreement on silver which we sought and secured at the London conference. We have since acquired other silver in the interest of stabilization of foreign exchange and the development of a broader metallic base for our currency. We seek to remedy a maladjustment of our currency.

Legislation Recommended

In further aid of this policy, it would be helpful to have legislation broadening the authority for the further acquisition and monetary use of silver.

I, therefore, recommend legislation to be the policy of the United States to increase the amount of silver in our monetary stocks with the ultimate objective of having and maintaining one-fourth of their monetary value in silver and three-fourths in gold.

The executive authority should be authorized and directed to make the purchases of silver necessary to attain this ultimate objective.

The authority to purchase present accumulations of silver in this country should be limited to purchases at not in excess of 50 cents per ounce.

The executive authority should be enabled, should circumstances require, to take over present surpluses of silver in this country not required for industrial uses on payment of just compensation, and to regulate

Bankers Pledge Aid To Housing Program

One Witness Before Senate Group Says Plan Is Serious Threat to Building and Loan Associations and Say It's Unwise.

Washington, May 22 (AP)—Cooperation of the American Bankers' Association with the administration's housing program was pledged today to the Senate Banking Committee by one witness while another contended some parts of the legislation offer a "serious threat" to building and loan associations.

Robert V. Fleming, president of Riggs National Bank of Washington, and vice president of the Bankers' Association, said the housing bill was "workable so far as the credit machinery is concerned."

I. Friendlander, of Houston, Tex., vice president of the U. S. Building and Loan League, told the committee his organization desires to endorse President Roosevelt's message to Congress and "about four-fifths of this proposed bill."

He contended, though, that Congress should give serious study to the proposal for guaranteeing home mortgages.

"If this plan had been in effect and widely used during the present depression," he added, "it would have undoubtedly cost the government hundreds of millions, if not several billions of dollars."

The league endorsed the proposal for financing home repairs and the insurance of building and loan associations.

The bill's proposal to create new Federal mortgage associations was termed unnecessary.

This type of lending institution has been proved "unwise and unsuccessful" in the past Friendlander said.

Johnson Asks NRA Central Councils

Washington, May 22 (AP)—to expedite advisory action on codes, Hugh S. Johnson today requested NRA's advisory boards to appoint three members each to a central advisory council which will report directly to the administrator.

The three boards—labor, industrial and consumer—will continue to function as heretofore except for reporting on codes and code amendments.

Since creation of NRA every completed pact has been referred to the three advisory groups before Johnson or President Roosevelt gave final approval.

Because the boards do not sit all the time there has been delay on many codes. Frequently there has been much controversy within the boards after approval of codes by the advisory board chairmen individually or by members of the staffs.

The new order was designed to prevent these delays and misunderstandings.

Vetoes Measure for Inspection of Autos

Albany, N. Y., May 22 (AP)—A bill which would have required annual inspection of motor vehicles was vetoed today by Governor Lehman because the duty of inspection was given to private garages.

The measure was the Goodrich proposal which would have prohibited the continued operation of an automobile or truck without a certificate posted on the windshield after a 50 cent inspection by a licensed garage.

Governor Lehman also vetoed the D. T. O'Brien bill for reorganizing title and mortgage guarantee corporations.

"Minority interests are not sufficiently respected and protected," the governor said, adding "it would be possible under this bill to reorganize a company and then permit it to commence once again the sale of certificates under the very same provisions of law which witnessed the abuses with which the certificate holders of this state are too well familiar."

The Columbia River locks which give the town its name will be near the bottom of a huge lake, to be formed by the $31,000,000 Bonneville power and navigation dam a few miles down the river.

"GASSING" HILLS IN LAWNS FATAL TO ANTS
General, N. Y., May 21.—A cheap and effective treatment to rid lawns of the pestiferous ants made by ants is recommended by entomologists at the State Experiment Station, Ithaca, N. Y., today.
The treatment consists of gassing the lawn with carbon bisulfide, which is a gas that is fatal to ants. The gas is applied in the form of a liquid, which is then evaporated into a gas. The gas is fatal to ants, but not to humans. The treatment is recommended for lawns that are infested with ants.

ANNUAL MAY CONFERENCE ON PARENTS' PROBLEMS
Ithaca, N. Y., May 21.—The annual May training conference in child development and parent education is held May 22 to 25 at the New York state college of home economics. It will be open to a large group including home demonstration agents, Cornell child-study-club officers and representatives, as well as county and city leaders. All Cornell child study groups which have received help from the department of family life at the college, and which have reported their meetings regularly, are eligible to send representatives to the conference.

Program plans and methods of club work are discussed in relation to the college's extension program. Exhibits including those of children's books, homemade play materials, and clothing, are displayed. Leaders will have access to shop and laboratory in developing their programs.
Talks on studies and research findings concerning children which are of interest to parents are offered in the fields of health, nutrition, clothing, child guidance, and psychology. One of the speakers is Dr. Kurt Lewin, child psychologist from the University of Berlin, who is studying Cornell's nursery school. Helping individuals with personal methods of observation and study is a part of the program, and the nursery school at the college is available for observation and illustration.
The fifty-six Cornell child study clubs now at work throughout the state are chiefly groups of mothers, teachers, relatives, and others interested in children. They are brought together by a common desire to understand children and to guide children more successfully. The study groups are formed voluntarily by interested women, and sponsored by the local or county home bureau and other organizations such as parent-teacher associations.

Ex-New Jersey Chief Backs H. G. Hoffman

Stokes At Republican Convention says Tax Problem Is Major Issue and Hoffman Is Popular Candidate.

Trenton, N. J., May 22 (AP).—Former Governor Edward C. Stokes, standing a campaign keynote today at the Republican state convention, asserted the taxation problem was "perhaps the main issue" and pointed to Harold G. Hoffman as the party's gubernatorial candidate by popular demand.

The former governor, who has been a figure in Republican councils throughout his long public career, praised President Roosevelt for "doing something" but he declared that "down in Washington we have confusion."

Praising the party's young gubernatorial candidate, the former governor said he had been brought into the campaign reluctantly but in response to a public demand he could not refuse.

The former governor declared that "what we need is not new taxes but less taxes—not more expenditures but less expenditures."

Aid for the state's municipalities, the keynote declared, without control of expenditures would only encourage greater extravagance.

Reviewing the activities of the Republican-controlled legislature, Stokes declared it had kept the state in "commendable financial condition." State aid for counties had increased from $25,000,000 in 1931, he said, to $50,000,000 in 1933, and state taxes on communities had been reduced from $25,000,000 in 1931 to $19,000,000 in 1933. State bonds, he added, sold at premium rates.

Berlin, May 22 (AP).—A note of distinct satisfaction pervaded official circles today as the government reviewed the accomplishments of General Joachim von Ribbentrop, Chancellor Hitler's special disarmament commissioner, who has returned from conversations in Rome and London.

Dead Doctor Heals Stomach Ailments

A word story is told of a well-known specialist reaching from the grave to cure stomach ailments. Years ago the doctor created a prescription for stomach ailments, acid stomach, gas pains, heartburn, indigestion, bloating, belching, and other symptoms caused by excess acid. Then the good doctor died. But his name brought fame after death as one user told another of his wonderful prescription. In the past six years, 54,169 grateful persons have written letters telling of their recoveries. This prescription is now known to hundreds of thousands as the Uga Treatment. All stomach ailments may have a free sample by writing to Uga, Suite 46, First-Schultz Bldg., St. Paul, Minn. The seven-day trial box of Uga Tablets is sold under a money-back guarantee of satisfaction by Van's Drug Store.—Adv.

Reply To Insult Charge By U.S. Is 'You're Here'

Chicago, May 22 (AP).—To Samuel Insull's plea that he was "shanghaied" from Turkey, the United States replied today:

"You're here. That's enough reason for bringing you to trial."

That, in effect, was the substance of a demurrer presented before Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan today to the Insull claim that he was illegally held and could not be tried on indictments for mail frauds and violation of the bankruptcy act.

Insull, now a resident of a Gold Coast hotel where Samuel, Jr., has his home, was not in court to hear the arguments by his attorney and the government prosecutor.

The demurrer claimed that the jurisdiction plea had not proved "sufficient cause why this court ought not take further cognizance of the indictment returned against Samuel Insull or that this court had no jurisdiction over the person of Samuel Insull or no jurisdiction to try and determine this cause."

New British Debt Move Is Predicted

London, May 22 (AP).—Indications were seen in circles closely in contact with the war debts controversy today that the British government may be planning a new approach to the problem in the June instalment due the United States.

Any such move, it was plainly seen, however, is contingent partially upon President Roosevelt's forthcoming message to Congress on the subject of debts.

Should the British take such action as is indicated it would represent a drastic change in the policy manifest in recent days.

Until today, official circles stoutly maintained that the first move in the debt situation must come from Mr. Roosevelt.

Now the same quarters hint strongly that there has been a relaxation of this attitude over the Whitelutide holidays, leading to a strong belief that Great Britain may be formulating a new plan for submission to Washington.

Ambassador Sir Ronald Lindsay has reported his latest talks in Washington to Whitehall, but the reports have been held in closest secrecy while the government heads ponder over them.

U. S. Asks Livestock 2-Year Moratorium

Washington, May 22 (AP).—The government's newest attack on the drought menace was launched today in the form of a call for a 2-year moratorium on mortgaged livestock.

The plan, as announced by Harry L. Hopkins, calls for agreements between creditors and farmers that foreclosures on livestock will not be pushed.

Another new step called for waiver by the government of $1,000,000 in forage crop seed in a gamble that rain would come in time to make it grow.

The new emergency drought relief committee continued work on cattle buying, feed shipment and other plans.

Catholic Priests Flee Mexico, Report Today

Nogales, Ariz., May 22 (AP).—Catholic priests were reported fleeing from Sonora, Mexico, toward the United States today under an order issued by the governor of the Mexican state.

Reports from the border state said religious services were at an end in all Catholic churches in Sonora and that many were closed.

Governor Rodolfo Elias Calles, son of the former Mexican president under whose regime many Catholic dignitaries fled charging religious persecution, said at Tucson, Ariz., his order merely enforced provisions of the Mexican constitution of 1917.

He said Mexican law requires that ministers of any church must be Mexican citizens, and the government has limited the number of ministers in any community.

Rafael Ruiz, mayor of Nogales, Sonora, said the order was caused by priests delving into politics and interfering with the government.

Father Jose Maria Silva of Crece, who crossed into the United States yesterday, said a general expulsion order of all Catholic priests in Sonora was ordered.

"The reason for our expulsion from Sonora," he said, "is that the state government wants to establish its own rationalistic religion which is based only on scientific facts and not on theology."

Vassar Girls May Wed To End Long Troths

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., May 22 (AP).—Vassar girls hereafter will be allowed to marry during their college career in order to avoid long engagements and secret weddings.

Warden Eleanor C. Dodge announced in the current issue of the Vassar Miscellany, student publication, that a girl now "may marry and continue her Vassar courses if she wishes."

"We do not believe in long engagements because of the emotional strain involved," the announcement said. "Nor do we believe in secret marriages. If they are to be kept secret they are necessarily followed by deception and falsification."

Warden Dodge said a married student would be expected to continue living in dormitories "unless factors in her particular case make other living arrangements desirable."

She said one senior already married is being permitted to live outside the dormitories.

Mrs. Massie Returns To The U. S. Today

Jersey City, N. J., May 22 (AP).—Thalia Fortescue Massie, central figure in the sensational Honolulu attack case, returned from Italy today.

She was met on the liner President Van Buren by her father and mother, Major and Mrs. Granville Fortescue, and her sister, Helene.

Mrs. Massie declined to discuss her suicide attempt aboard the Genoa-bound steamship a few months after she was divorced from her husband, Lieut. Thomas H. Massie.

Her father took active charge of the proceedings today, allowing but few pictures to be taken of his daughter, and telling her to answer questions as tersely as possible.

Mrs. Massie's replies were "yes" and "no" for the most part. She had a pleasant trip, she said, found enjoyable companions, and occupied her time with the usual shipboard pastimes.

Ship's officers said that Mrs. Massie appeared in good spirits on the voyage, playing cards and attending cocktail parties.

The Walking Cabinet Hacks at Expenses

Sofia, Bulgaria, May 22 (AP).—The "walking cabinet" of Premier Kimon Gueorguieff began hacking away today, as promised, at the high cost of government in Bulgaria.

The ministers themselves set an example in thrift yesterday. Eschewing motor transportation, they went on foot to the palace for their first official call on King Boris since their seized power Saturday in a bloodless coup d'etat.

A general program of consolidation and simplification of official business was undertaken.

Modern Stockyards, Chicago's Intention

Chicago, May 26 (AP).—A new and fire proof stockyard, yet one with familiar features, will rise from the ashes of the one almost destroyed by fire last week.

The nine story exchange building will probably not be raised. It's walls and foundation are intact. At the time of the fire, 127 commission firms had offices there—the nerve center of the vast industry.

COLD WINTER DAMAGED MANY PRIVET HEDGES

Ithaca, N. Y., May 21.—Serious winter injury to many privet hedges throughout New York state is noted by Donald Wyman of the New York State College of Agriculture, who says the California privet has suffered most, and was killed to the ground in many localities. It is too early to determine whether the roots are injured.

Regal's privet has not been killed to the ground in as many regions as has the California hedge, but partial killings are noted in some places.

Now is the time to cut such hedges to the ground level, Mr. Wyman says. Even if a large hedge is only partially killed, it will take much renewal pruning to make the hedge look uniform this summer; and it may prove impossible if some of the plants are killed much farther back than others.

The hedge, if injured, should be cut back to within a few inches of the ground, he advises. Most plants that are noted to have started already, at least the buds, have swelled. Plants that are killed show a drying of the buds and a brownish inner bark, which ordinarily should be green.

Mr. Wyman says it sometimes takes a season like the past to make homeowners realize how seriously and unsightly the lower part of a hedge has become. By cutting it down to the ground, it can be made to branch from the base and possibly form a better looking hedge than before, especially if the top is kept narrower than the base.

Washington Daybook

By HERBERT PLUMMER
WASHINGTON — With the present session of congress drawing near its close and election time at hand, the practice known as "helping a friend" is going at full blast.

"Helping a friend" is the act of one member of congress rising on the floor and talking for the Congressional Record in praise of the "hard-working, conscientious and statesmanlike" colleague who perhaps in having a little tough sledding back home is trying to return for another term.

There are lots of them in such a fix this year, especially in the house.

Primary campaigns have been under way since early spring and will continue through the summer months into the fall in some states. Every little bit helps, particularly contributions of praise from a colleague who has had opportunity to see you in action on the firing line in Washington.

With 'Applause'

HERE'S a typical illustration of how it's worked, recently put in the Record by a southern member of the house:

"Dear Tom: When you go home I want you to tell those ex-service men for me that they will make a serious mistake if they turn against you after all you have done for them."

This was signed by the chairman of the house committee on world war veterans' legislation.

Diabetes Ancient Disease
Diabetes was one of the diseases of ancient Egypt.

Inhabitants of New Zealand
The Maori are the Polynesian inhabitants of New Zealand.

And another, taken from the speech of a Missouri member of the house in which he referred to a colleague from Texas:

"Speaking in behalf of the people of my state—and expressing, I am certain, the sentiments of those of every state in the union—I desire to thank the citizens of the district of Texas for sending me here and keeping him here all these years."

And to make it all the more impressive the word "applause" is bracketed at the conclusion of such tributes.

'Helping A Friend'

THE member so praised is free to have such personal tributes printed in any quantities he desires and "franked" to his constituents if he doesn't care to go to that trouble or expense, there it is in the Record where all may see or where it can be read with pardonable pride when the time for taking the stump rolls around.

Just the other day, when everybody in the house was anxious to get to consideration of the important stock market control bill, a democrat felt the urge to "help a friend." So, the republican leader, gallantly acquiesced.

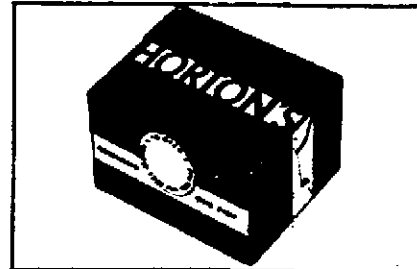

"I want it understood, however," he said, "that I know it is a purely political speech, and if someone on this side should want to make one a little later, I hope there will be no objection from the democratic side of the house."

At The Theatres

Today
Kingston: "Sadie McKee." Vina Delmar, the young lady who knows how to create best selling novels, is responsible for this talking picture. It tells Joan Crawford in the starring role. Miss Delmar's heroines are almost always of the underdog variety and Sadie McKee follows in the best tradition. Poor, trampled upon, preyed upon by men, Sadie McKee is just one of thousands of girls who climb the ladder to fortune and success. She does this, as you may suspect, through the aid of her own wit and adoration of men. These men enter her life and each leaves their mark. In the end she discovers that the one she hated at first is really the big moment in her life. Miss Crawford makes a fine Sadie McKee and seems to enjoy her part. Gene Raymond, Edward Arnold and Franchot Tone are also in the cast.

Orpheum: "The Face in the Sky" and "Ridin' Thru." The first double feature concerns a sign painter who falls in love with a girl whose face appears on numerous billboards. Spencer Tracy and Marjorie Reynolds head the cast. "Ridin' Thru" gives Tom Tyler another chance to gallop through a maze of action in a western drama of excitement and make believe. Broadway: "The Trumpet Blows." George Raft rose to stardom through his ability in playing suave gangster roles. He was the ideal mobster, and his characters were sure fire. Lately, however, Mr. Raft has been given parts less kind to his makeup. And in this one we find him dressed up in the memory of Rudolph Valentino, a bullfighter who plays with death by day. It is well directed and acted drama. But the impression lingers that the sleek Mr. Raft should pull out a gun and finish off the bull with it in place of his matador's steel. Yet the scenes in the bull ring are unusually exciting and Adolphe Menjou, as Mr. Raft's bandit brother, adds mystery and more excitement to a fast moving story. The romance centers around the unhappy fact that both brothers are in love with the same girl. What with excellent photography and settings, this show has the necessary elements for a successful picture. But the impression sticks that Mr. Raft is more comfortable in a role that gives him a sub-machine gun as a companion rather than a bull. Frances Drake, Katherine DeMille and Sidney Toler are members of the cast.

Tomorrow
Kingston: "Thirty Day Princess." Some of the wise boys who toil not but scheme all day get together and launch a bond issue with a make believe princess as the inspiration. The idea, from the pen of Clarence Buddington Kelland, works well on the screen, and this little adventurous comedy proves likable and exciting. Sylvia Sydney is given an excellent part to portray a series of mediocre films, and she has a grand time in the role of the make believe princess. Gary Grant, Edward Arnold, Vince Barnett and Henry Stephenson are in the supporting cast. There are bits of gay comedy in this show, some real excitement, and plenty of romance for the sentimentalists.

Orpheum: "I Loved You Wednesday" and "King of the Wild Horses." The story of a dancing lady and her lover is the plot structure of the first feature. She learns about men as one she loves throws her over, and another finally makes her happy. Warner Baxter, Eliot Landi, Miriam Jordan and Victor Jory are featured. "King of the Wild Horses" laid against a background of desert scenery, this story of a horse is interesting drama. Rex, the wonder horse, proves his intelligence with some capable acting.

Broadway: "I've Got Your Number" and "King For a Night." Telephone company "trouble shooters" are glorified again in this fast moving story of a telephone operator who gets tangled up with racketeers. She is in harsh trouble until her friends, the "trouble shooters," tap the wires and give her help. One of the reasons for the success of this show is its excellent cast. Joan Blondell, Glenda Farrell, Pat O'Brien, Allen Jenkins, and Eugene Pallette are all in important parts. "King for a Night" is the story of a lusty prize fighter who makes good when his sister gets in trouble. Chester Morris and Helen Twelvetrees are starred.

On The Radio Day By Day

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD.

New York, May 22—Over at CBS they're getting ready for George Jessel's return to broadcasting with a lot of ambitious plans. The date still is about two weeks off, June 3, but it has been pretty well decided what the program makeup is to be.

George again will be master of ceremonies with his telephone gag, but the program will run an hour instead of the half-hour of his former series. It will also introduce a new variety show called the "Voice of Columbia," containing a lot of that chain's artists.

In the opener will be five orchestra leaders, Freddie Rich, Johnny Green, Johnny Augustino, Mark Warnow and Howard Barlow in addition to such entertainers as Mary Eastman, Gertrude Niesen, the Beale Street Boys, Nick Lucas, Sylvia Froom, and Evan Evans. On top of that there is provision for a five-minute drama.

Texas Editor Says F. D. R. Runs Nation

Gene Howe Says Governor's List of 50 in 1900 Has Been Made to Appear Weak in Comparison — Roosevelt Aids Are "Yes Men"

Amarillo, Texas, May 22 (AP)—Gene Howe, Amarillo editor, said today a survey he had just completed revealed President Roosevelt as "having complete mastery of the nation" in contrast with the 50 men James W. Gerard said were running the United States in 1900.

Howe, son of Ed Howe, famous Kansas editor, and a controversialist who has tilted with Mary Garden and other notables, picked 49 of the President's chief advisers "who are consulted at his pleasure rather than their leisure." He called at least half of them "yes men, and said there is not one of the remainder who can speak for the President without first consulting him."

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt heads the list of advisers which Howe selected after a month's survey.

Gerard's list was made up principally of bankers, financiers, and big industrialists. Howe found that these classes are not represented among Roosevelt's advisers, asserting:

"Louis McHenry Howe is his intellectual valet; Jim Farley his political strategist, whose advice is seldom taken except regarding party organization. Vice-President Garner doesn't speak or understand the language of most of those who surround the President, but is loyal.

"Hugh Johnson is a heavy man who overdid it. He takes orders from the President. The thunder is his own, the lightning Roosevelt's."

"Ker Tagwell is a socialist, a brilliant conversationist, a dull thinker. He has become publicly goat of the administration, and like it. Salvoes hurled at him are intended for the President. He is headed out."

Roosevelt's Relief Is Called "Illusion"

Kansas City, May 22 (AP)—The social workers' hope that the Roosevelt administration will put forward an adequate program of unemployed relief was declared an illusion today by Miss Mary Van Kleeck of the Russell Sage Foundation.

Miss Van Kleeck, director of the Department of Industrial Studies of the New York foundation, spoke at the first annual meeting of the National Conference of Social Work.

Contraventions

"Contraventions are essential to civilization," said H. H. Ho, the sage of Chinatown, "but we civilize more rapidly if we can conduct one controversy at a time instead of trying to settle all questions at once."

Now It's 'Depression Shell Shock'

Science Says "Hard Time Illness" Is Similar To War Cases

Shell shock, science says, is produced not only in the battlefields of modern warfare but also in the lines of the unemployed. Doctors explain that "depression shell shock" is similar in its effects to that suffered by soldiers during the World War. It is an unconscious method of escape from the rigors of hard times, they say, for the jobless men who face the dilemma of being unable to find work and refusing to accept charity. Something snaps when the strain is greatest, and "depression shell shock" is the result.

Children Sold Bootleg Liquor Candy, Report Two Cars Collided On Broadway Monday

New York, May 22 (AP)—Evidence of a liquor candy ring alleged to have sold children $500,000 worth of candies filled with bootleg alcohol was presented to the Federal grand jury in Brooklyn yesterday.

The action followed a Federal investigation lasting six months, with agents of the food and drug administration pursuing clues as far west as Chicago. Indictments will be returned this week against two persons and two companies, according to Murray Kreindler, assistant Federal attorney.

The drive began last December, when Federal authorities were informed the candy was being sold in large quantities over an area extending to Chicago and Baltimore. Most of the candy was in the form of penny bonbons. Its label indicated that it had been made in Paris.

Teachers informed the authorities that children who ate the sweets returned to their classes after recesses in a semi-stupor.

Each bon bon contained about a teaspoonful of liquid, found, on analysis, to contain more than 20 per cent alcohol, diluted with flavoring of various kinds.

The car driven by Emma N. Collins of Pleasantville, N. J., was damaged when it was in collision with a car driven by James Hart of Esopus, Monday afternoon on Broadway, at Suyvesant street. Hart was placed under arrest by the driver of the other car who charged him with reckless driving. According to the woman's statements to the police she was driving down Broadway when the Hart car was driven across the street and into her car and then running through the fence at Ortale property at Broadway and Suyvesant street. This morning she withdrew the complaint lodged against Hart. The police understand that Hart had made arrangements to have the other car repaired.

MARITIME CIRCLES PAY TRIBUTE TO SAVANNAH

Washington, May 22 (AP)—Flags fluttered today for the old steamship Savannah—the first of her kind to cross the Atlantic—whose smoke caused a false fire alarm when she steamed into Liverpool in 1819.

This was "Maritime Day," proclaimed by a sea-loving president to celebrate the sailing 115 years ago from Savannah, Ga., of the Savannah.

From Savannah to Liverpool in 22 days was the Savannah's record—8 days under sail, the rest under steam.

As built in New York city, dimensions of the combined steam and sail ship were:

Length, 98.5 feet; beam, 25.4 feet; draft, 12.9 feet; gross tonnage, 319.70.

Her triumph, while short, was great. Loud huzzas greeted her when she sailed into Savannah from New York.

But the Savannah did not pay. The company sold her "to New York parties who took out her steam engine and made a packet of her."

And she "foundered on Long Island in a heavy storm" a few years later.

BOY HELPS SCHOOL SHOW BY FALL THROUGH GLASS

Tullahoma, Tenn. (AP)—It was pretty tough on Bobby Morris, but his unfortunate accident proved a boon to the local school carnival.

Hurrying to the benefit show of his classmates, he crashed head-first through a door glass. A physician patched up his cuts with stitches and tape and the youngster went his way.

Arriving at the school, he was spied by Harriet McArthur, who must be a born showwoman in spite of the fact she is just a grammar school student now.

She hustled the bandaged boy to a side-show tent and throughout the evening patrons paid to see him sit under a banner that read "The man with the Jigsaw physiognomy."

In Police Court.

John Corkey of Sawkill, arrested for public intoxication on North Front street Monday, was sentenced to two days in the county jail to straighten up. Louis Van Demark of Van Buren street, arrested on charge of loitering about the street, had his hearing adjourned for two days.

Fordie Promoted.

Robert Fordie of Cairo, for some time past with the local Montgomery Ward & Co. store, has been promoted to the position of assistant manager.

Healthberry Has Many Names

The healthberry, of which forty varieties are known in the United States, goes also by many names which include tangierberry, whortberry, blueberry, dewberry, huckleberry and others. Usually it is found in an acid soil, in fact, treatment with acid results in a crop of berries often approaching the cherry in size. Because of their tendency to rot under weight and warm temperatures, the huckleberry does not find its way to market as readily as other types.

Market for Fruits And Vegetables

New York, May 22 (AP)—State department of agriculture and markets.

The following quotations represent prices on sales by commission merchants and other original sources on the New York city downtown wholesale district up to 5 a. m.

Wholesale prices on asparagus, cantaloupes, corn, cucumbers, lettuce, mushrooms, green peas, potatoes, radishes, and strawberries tended downward due to either excessive supplies or lack of demand.

Low prices continued to prevail for broad beans, rhubarb, escarole, fennel, hot water radish, kale, leeks, radishes, turnips, cauliflower, sprouts, spinach, white turnips and water-cress.

Advances were registered for tomatoes and lemons. Price fluctuations for most other kinds of fresh fruits and vegetables were small and unimportant since yesterday.

Strawberry receipts were considerably heavier and a percentage of the offerings showed ordinary to poor quality and condition. Values on that account ranged widely. Jobbing sales on various varieties from the different states were reported within the price range of 5-12 cents per quart basket with most sales from 6-9 cents.

Financial and Commercial

New York, May 22 (AP)—Stocks started at 100 on a moderately improved market today pending publication of the President's message to Congress on silver legislation.

While speculative circles anxiously awaited details of the forthcoming bill, the impression in Wall Street was that it would not be of a particularly inflammatory nature and probably would do little more than reiterate the chief executive's ideas on the purchase of present holdings at about 50 cents an ounce, the placing of a substantial tax on profits and the mapping out of further steps toward international cooperation.

There was some selling of the metal shares. U. S. Smelting, American Smelting, Howe Sound and Cerro de Pasco were off 1 to around 2 points at one time. Silver futures were just about steady and the bar metal was unchanged at 45½ cents an ounce.

Trading was still dull. Some of the daily issues advanced on reports of higher prices for produce. A firm tone was shown by Du Pont, American Can Co., American Locomotive, American Smelting & Ref. Paris, May 22 (AP)—Fred Perry, apparently smarting under the defeat administered yesterday by Christian Bonness, today turned on Andre Merlie, Bonness' French Davis cup teammate, and pounded out a 6-0, 9-7 victory in the French-English annual tennis series at Stade Roland Garros.

H. W. (Benny) Austin added another point for England with a 6-1, 6-1 victory over Marcel Bernard and C. R. D. Tucker won from Jacques Branger 6-1, 2-6, 6-2.

Financial and Commercial

New York, May 22 (AP)—Stocks started at 100 on a moderately improved market today pending publication of the President's message to Congress on silver legislation.

While speculative circles anxiously awaited details of the forthcoming bill, the impression in Wall Street was that it would not be of a particularly inflammatory nature and probably would do little more than reiterate the chief executive's ideas on the purchase of present holdings at about 50 cents an ounce, the placing of a substantial tax on profits and the mapping out of further steps toward international cooperation.

There was some selling of the metal shares. U. S. Smelting, American Smelting, Howe Sound and Cerro de Pasco were off 1 to around 2 points at one time. Silver futures were just about steady and the bar metal was unchanged at 45½ cents an ounce.

Trading was still dull. Some of the daily issues advanced on reports of higher prices for produce. A firm tone was shown by Du Pont, American Can Co., American Locomotive, American Smelting & Ref. # NAVY TO STAGE SEA PAGEANT FOR PRESIDENT

FIGHTING SHIPS HEAD EAST FOR FLEET REVIEW

By Alexander R. George

Washington (AP)—The national spotlight will shift from Washington to New York on May 31 when President Roosevelt reviews the massed naval power of the United States moving in majestic procession from the blue waters of the Atlantic to anchor in the Hudson river.

This year's review, the first since 1925, is expected to be unusually spectacular because it will include scores of naval planes in new, breathtaking maneuvers against the background of Manhattan's skyline.

Some 90 ships, ranging from slim, sleek destroyers to massive battleships, will come up over the eastern horizon in a long column led by the flagship, the Pennsylvania, flying the four-star blue flag of the fleet's commander, Admiral David F. Sellers.

Salute The President

As the war vessels come abreast of the President's flagship, the new treaty cruiser Indianapolis, their crews in full dress will give the hand salute, the guards will present arms, the band will play the national anthem with ruffles and flourishes and the guns of each ship in succession will thunder the presidential salute of 21 salvos fired at five second intervals.

After the aircraft carriers Saratoga and Lexington pass in review, they will swing out of the column and proceed to positions advantageous for launching the planes massed on their decks.

While the surface ships churn great lanes of white in the blue seas as they move toward New York, the airplanes will fly in echelon, soar and dive and lay down thick smoke screens to obscure the fleet.

Flying Presidential Flag

President Roosevelt will be on the bridge of the Indianapolis anchored near Ambrose lightship and flying the presidential flag which has the United States seal in colors surrounded by four white stars on a dark blue field. On board with him will be Secretary Swanson of the navy department, Admiral William H. Standley, chief of naval operations, and members of the President's cabinet. The heavy cruiser Louisville, an-

Led by the flagship Pennsylvania (above), Uncle Sam's fighting ships will pass in review for President Roosevelt on May 31. Some 90 ships will plow majestically from Atlantic waters, around Manhattan chored near the Indianapolis, will fly the flag of Colonel Henry L. Roosevelt, assistant secretary of the navy. It, also, will carry distinguished guests.

After the flagship Pennsylvania, slated to pass the presidential ship at 11 a. m., will come the huge aircraft carriers, with two destroyers acting as an escort for each. Then will come the cruiser Raleigh followed by squadrons of destroyers.

Next will be seven new 10,000-ton treaty cruisers, the Chicago, Houston, Portland, Chester, Northampton, Pensacola and Salt Lake City. These are sister ships of the Indianapolis, the Houston being scheduled to take the President on his summer cruise to Hawaii.

Bulldozers of the Fleet

island and up the Hudson river to anchorage. Speedy planes, catapulted from their nests aboard aircraft carriers, will zoom above New York's spired skyline.

After them will come the bulldozers of the fleet, the big battleships, led by the California flying the four-star red flag of Admiral J. M. Reeves, commander of the battle force. Other battleships in this squadron will be

Drouth Conditions Grave in N. Y. State

Ithaca, N. Y., May 22 (P).—Drouth conditions in New York state, particularly in the northern farm lands, may become the most severe in years unless soaking rains bring relief soon, Dean Carl E. Ladd of Cornell University said today.

"The situation is very grave, particularly for the dairy farmer," he said.

It may be necessary for New York state to ask funds from the federal government to aid farmers as the result of the parched condition of pasture lands, which has necessitated purchase of feed for their cattle for the first time in years, he said.

Dr. Ladd said the worst damage is being suffered in the heavy milk producing counties of Franklin and St. Lawrence, which were hard hit last summer by lack of rains and this winter by the severe cold.

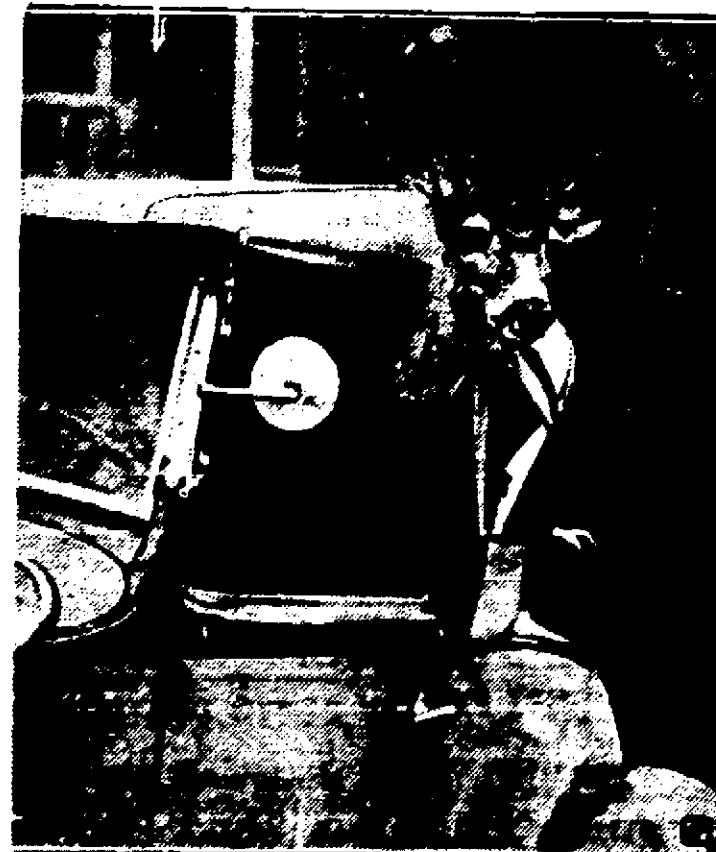

"Cattle are poor and the pastures and meadows have virtually dried up," Dr. Ladd said, adding that the oat and wheat crops will be most seriously affected.

Two surveys to determine the seriousness of the spring drouth have been started, one by the department of agriculture.

Doubling for Cupid

By NAT H. HATCHER

© by Nat H. Hatcher. Reprinted by permission of the author.

THE picture was terrible, and Royal looked at the three books of love and knew he'd have to wait through to get there. He hesitated, uncertain for a moment, and then settled back against the seat and closed his eyes. At least the theater was warm.

The chair shook, disturbing his dream, and he looked up irritably as a dim shape slid into a seat beside him. He had one glimpse of a white face and then, with no preliminaries at all, the girl produced a tiny handkerchief and proceeded to cry into it with quiet abandon.

Royal watched with a detached sort of interest, wondering idly if she had marked him as the victim for some lachrymose racket of which he had never heard. But after a while Royal reached out and took her hand in his own.

There was a frantic and unsuccessful tug, and then the girl turned a quick, startled glance toward the empty seats all around them.

"If you scream I'll turn you loose," Royal warned firmly. He let her consider that possibility for a moment, and went on: "You were crying, you know."

"I—it was because of the picture."

"It is a lousy picture. It almost moves me to tears, too."

There was another half-hearted tug to release her hand.

"You're laughing at me."

"On the contrary, I feel very much like crying with you. Perhaps if you'd tell me—"

"There isn't anything to tell."

"I thought perhaps there was a boy—"

"There is not!"

"Who at this very moment is being nice to some blond alien?"

"Her hair was handsome!"

"The color doesn't matter. She's a cat just the same."

"I'll never speak to him again."

"Serves him right for running away to dinner with a red-headed alien when he could be with a swell!"

"Blond," she replied. "How did you know that he took her out to dinner?"

"Trust a woman like that to take him where she can wear her most becoming evening gown. They're probably at the Blue Bonnet right now."

"The Plaza?"

"What a coincidence! I wanted to go there tonight, but I detest dining alone." After a moment he went on, coaxingly: "You could go home and dress and I'd call for you in an hour."

By seeking out the exact spot that his companion seemed most careful to ignore, Royal recognized The Boy at once. He was a hefty twenty-one, no doubt played guard on his football team, and Royal reflected, he was quite capable of making a battle ground of the restaurant.

"Now, Dorothy—"

"Betty."

"Now, Betty, you like me fine, and I am very fond of you. We can't have Oscar—"

"His name is Bill!"

"We can't have Bill thinking you're eating your heart out for him. That's not the idea at all. I'm not such a bad looking duck myself, and— Stop looking at me as if I was your father."

Royal had to admit that she was doing a very good job of liking him. Her eyes were beginning to glow tenderly. It was their second dance together, and he was a little bit startled when an abrupt hand fell on his shoulder, and Bill stood with arms outstretched toward the girl, ignoring Royal.

"Sorry, Bub," Royal's voice was softly patronizing. "I haven't seen Betty in a long time."

Betty's answer stuck somewhere in her throat, and Royal executed a flourishing reverse step that left Bill blinking in astonishment.

After the dance Betty mumbled an incoherent excuse and slipped away. Left alone, Royal suddenly noticed that the red-headed girl had changed seats and now sat facing him.

The red-head was beautiful in a vital sort of way. She met his gaze across the dance floor, and there was a suggestion of a smile on her lips. Royal sighed deeply and made a feeble effort to bring his thoughts back into safer channels.

Confound Bill! If Betty would only hurry back and— No, if she would stay away a little longer, he would contrive in some way to meet the red-head. Bill was greeting a party across the room, and he could use their mutual friends as an excuse to speak to her. At the worst, she could only ignore him. And she had already smiled at him! She smiled again when he stopped by her table, and because the shock of it left him strangely weak, he slipped into the chair facing her.

"Couldn't we make this a—er—party?" he managed to ask. "My—er—Betty and I, and you and Bill. You see, there are so many jolly things four can do."

"I'm afraid we can't," she answered. "You see, your—er—Betty is gone."

"Gone?"

"Yes, and so is Bill. They left together. I just saw them slip away."

Royal pondered that startling information for a moment.

"Gone, are they? Well, let's make it a party of two. There are so many jolly things two can do."

He did not hear her answer. He was thinking that one of the jolliest things he could do was to sit and look into her eyes.
